ADVENTURESS ARRESTED AFTER BATTLE WITH POLICE.

Mrs. Adelaide Lloyd Smith, Wanted for Illegal Oil Transactions, Is Placed in San Francisco Prison -- Clever Female Promoter of Mining and Other Schemes Is Alleged to Have Swindled Many Confiding Victims by Inducing Them to Purchase Worthless Stocks

MRS. A. L. SMITH,
Who has been arrested in San Francisco. She is charged with embezzlement.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

San Fancisco, Cal., May 2.—Mrs. Adelaide | they done so, the prisoner, so long at large, might probably still be a fugitive. Lloyd Smith, for whom the police of a dozen cities have been searching and whose career as an adventuress has not been colipsed in some time, according to the statements of detectives, has been run to

FIGHTS THE DETECTIVE.

Mrs. Smith tried to enter a saloon. Then she rushed into a shoe store, all the time appealing to the crowd to come to her rescue. It was not until Officer George Douglass came along that the detective felt secure and the fair prisoner gave up hope of freedom and was haif dragged, haif carried to the Hall of Justice.

Mrs. Smith is wanted in this city and the Northern States for embezziement and obtaining money under faise pretenses. She is the same woman who figured years ago as a singer, recently was used as a decoy to coax a fortune from Mrs. Oliver N. Moxey, the aged bride, and later launched a gigantic scheme, which is said by the police to be fraudulent, to plant oysters in Williapa Harbor.

Besides these are her oil ventures by earth at last. Handsomely omely attired and resplendent with jewels, she was captured after an exciting chase and landed in the city prison. To Detective Tom Gibson of the local department is due the credit for the capture. Of-ficer George Douglass assisted him in the arrest.

The woman, wanted for a long list of crimes, recognized the detective before he identified her. Mrs. Smith tried to elude the officer. Gibson saw the move and followed her, boarding quickly and taking a seat alongside of her. Both were strangers to each other and it became a game of wit.

The woman realized that denials were useless and when Gibson read one of the warrants, charging her with the embezzlement of thousands of dollars, she admitted her identity and in silence planned an escape. crimes, recognized the detective before he identified her. The woman realized that denials were useless and when Gibson read one of the warrants, charging her with the embezziement of thousands of dollars, she admitted her identity and in silence planned an escape.

SEEKS CROWD'S SYMPATHY.

The car had reached Kearny street, when the officer beckoned his prisoner to follow him. She smiled graciously as she arose from her seat and stepped to the street. With a bound she was beyond her custodian's reach and rushed wildly in the direction of the sidewalk. Gibson started in pursuit and succeeded in catching her arm.

All this happened shortly before 7 o'clock and while the streets were thronged with people. A large crowd, attracted by the incident, gathered. The woman hattiled with Gibson and he used his strength in subduring her.

people. A large crowd, attracted by the incident, gathered. The woman battled with Gibson and he used his strength in subduing her.

Mrs. Smith then resorted to a clever ruse to effect her escape. Single handed, she knew that she was poweriess and she counted on the assistance of the crowd. A word of appeal to the throng brought a wave of indignation against the man who sought to detain her. "Help me, help me," she cried. "This man will kill me." Fortunately Gibson was quicker than the spectators, for he showed his star and shouted that the woman was his prisoner. It was difficult to make many of the witnesses, who were about to interfere, understand and pass unheedd the woman's cries. She had everything in her favor. She is above the ordinary in appearance and the wealth of diamonds sparkled fascinatingly and made an appeal of their own. Many afterward confessed to the detective that they thought an attempt was being made to rob the woman and that they were about to seize him. Had in their dealings with labor.

FIGHTS THE DETECTIVE.

"for great corporations. What a gain it would be for the whole world if all dehumanized people would get out of it. We have got means enough that we could do without capitalists who come among us to live upon the blood of human beings. The cause of lebor, if rightfully understood, is the cause of humanity. What labor desires, first of all, is not charity, but justice. Wages are never the full equivalent of human work."

"There is a quality in some men which goes far beyond the question of wages. One of the great curses of the modern world is the vast conglomoration of people in huge cities. The ideal civilization is a country of cities from 20,000 to 30,000 inhabitants.

"If it were not for great cities we could do away with the evils brought upon us by corruption politicians. There is nothing that will give us relief from the present conditions with the exception of trades unionism. The history of trades unionism is the history of beneficence. The strike is the weapon of organized labor, but it is as dangerous to the laborer as it is to the capitalist."

"Labor Problems" was the subject of the lecture, and he touched upon the whole phase of the subject.

"Laws are not made," said the speaker, REPUBLIC SPECIAL Washington, May 2.-According to figures obtained at the Treasury Department today, the surplus for the first ten months of the fiscal year was $35,419,646. Officials of the Treasury now expect that the entire surplus for the year will be somewhere between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000. The total receipts up to date have been $466,419,501 and the expenditures $430,999,855. These are the sources of receipts: Customs, $241,723,366; internal revenue, $190,276,540; miscellaneous, $34,419,595. For the same ten months of the last fiscal year the total receipts were $464,218,269 and the expenditures $398,624,999, a surplus of more than $66,000,000. Congress saw that the surplus was growing too large and abolished all the taxes imposed during the Spanish War, estimating that this would decrease the revenues during the fiscal year $75,000,000. The receipts from internal revenue for the ten months of the present fiscal year, amounting to $190,276,240, show that there has been a decrease this fiscal year over the same period of the last fiscal year in this item of $31,346,612, the receipts for the ten months of the last fiscal year having been $25,122,132. The outlook is that the war revenue repeal will cut the internal revenue figures for this fiscal year about $42,000,000. There has been a natural growth in the receipts of internal revenues that has assisted in wiping out the big reduction considered by Congress.

It is from customs that there has been a large increase in this fiscal year. For the ten months of the last fiscal year, For the ten months of the last fiscal year, compared with the same period of last year, there has been an increase of $16,50,214.

The figures show that the expenditures of the Government are how almost keeping War, estimating that this would decrease

Our May Sale of Muslin Undergarmer

Commences to-morrow and continues this entire week on a much broader and more liberal scale than has ever been experienced by the St. Louis public. back in January we contracted for these garments. We'll take you into our confidence and tell you how they came to us and why we can sell them so much fairer than other stores. Last January our buyer visited a number of America's best mills purchased all the better Mill Ends and Short Lengths of muslin, cambric, nainsook, laces, embroideries, etc., exact copies of fabrics and trimmings used in garments priced double our May Sale prices. She sent them to two of the best New York manufacturers with instructions to make them up in the swellest 1933 styles when other work was slack. In this manner more time and attention could be devoted to their manufacture and at a considerable saving in cost. Each garment in this sea of whiteness possesses an individuality of style and eleverness only found in the higher priced goods. BE SURE YOU ATTEND THIS SALE TO-MORROW-YOU'LL VOTE IT THE MOST GENEROUS VALUE-GIVING EVENT OF THE YEAR.
